

Short term courses

Fully aware of the needs of social and economic actors in the market, the Aix Marseille University's (AMU) Continuous Vocational Training courses provide an appropriate response to the requirements for skills and competences development.

Whether these short courses are general or specialised, foundational or technical, they allow each student to acquire skills and know-how, or update, consolidate and improve those already acquired. The curriculum also includes input from a number of highly qualified external lecturers, whose expertise, experience and ability to communicate reinforces the course work.

Our ambition is to play an essential role in the development of our local socio-economic fabric by supporting the actors involved.

Roland Kazan,
Vice-President delegate for Continuous Vocational Training, AMU
