

Roland Kazan

DIRECTOR OF MASTER 1 & 2 OF FASHION AND TEXTILE TRADES

With nearly 25 years experience in integration into the workplace and continuous vocational training at Aix-Marseille University, it was only natural that the President of the University gave him the mission of analysing the potential for a Masters Degree in Fashion Design. He had to establish the needs of local companies in terms of recruitment and the general context of the way the relevant trades, crafts and skills evolved.

Today he is very proud to promote the Masters course, which was created further to reflection on his analysis by the University lecturers and their partner companies. Together they wanted to create a course which would be exceptional, efficient, technical, close to industrial reality, and which would encourage students to develop a fashion, design and artistic culture.

The strategic position of Marseilles at the heart of the Mediterranean and the success of labels based or created in the city, such as Sessùn, American Vintage, le Temps des cerises, Garella, and Parakian, have subsequently confirmed the need for such a high level fashion design course in the region. Furthermore, Roland Kazan cordially invites you to discover for yourselves our universe of knowledge, creation and innovation.
